This large wooden lodge stands in the central district in stark contrast to most of the stone edifices that have erected there. The building is marked with the sign of a large red wolf head hanging outside the main double doors.

The double doors to the inn open straight into the common area, which is quite large. About eight booths in total, four along either side of the room, line the walls and 5 long wooden tables fill the main floor. The bar is a large oaken affair at the rear behind which are oaken barrels. A narrow staircase heads upstairs to the suites. A side door brings one to the single rooms on the first floor. Another side door brings one to a meeting room available for rent.

There is a large hearth decorated as a wolf's head with its open mouth as the firepit and smoke and light wafting from its open eyes.

Outside the inn proper is a laundry house, a bathhouse, a livery stable with coachhouse

Checking into the inn can be done at the bar, which is usually tended to by Wulfgar himself.

Innkeeper & Staff

Wulfgar the Red (Male Human Ranger): Wulfgar is a Jossian who made his way to Kalimspport chasing down a Leilioran mercenary who led a raid on his village. Once in the southron lands, he found he didn't want to go back northward. His hunt for the Leilioran left him some treasure, which he used to establish the Hall. He's a tall man, some 6'7" with broad shoulders and a narrow waist. He has shoulder-length red hair and a full beard. His composite longbow hangs behind the bar and sometimes bets are made against those who try to pull it (STR +6). He enjoys tending bar and swapping stories with patrons.

Uther Redd (Male Human Commoner): Uther is Wulfgar's husband and chief steward. Uther makes sure everything about the inn gets done and done right. The two squabble publicly but are clearly devoted to each other. The two met when Wulfgar came to Kalimspport. They opened the inn together. Uther is a small man, about 5'6" and a bit mousy.

Esyld Redd (Female Human Commoner): Wulfgar and Uther adopted Esyld when she was just 11 years old from an orphan school maintained by the Temple of Cereth. She'd always been a bit of a ruffian and was causing trouble—exactly the type of child the two men wanted. The three formed a tight-knit family fairly quickly and now Esyld, a young woman of 18 years, is a barmaid in the common room and helps her fathers run the inn. She's a pretty young woman with round hips and bosom—that doesn't get touched (she's broken thumbs over it). She has brown hair and eyes and full, pouty lips.

Ymilia (Female Human Expert): Ymilia is a Sianean chef who came to the Redds looking for work when she was exiled from her homeland due to some unnamed political intrigue. They asked no questions and took her on once they tasted her roasted capons. She is a middle-aged woman with salt-and-pepper hair and dusky skin. Her eyes are hazel and flecked with amber and can be quite intense when focused on you. She has a sly sense of humor and a romantic temperament. She's always trying to match Esyld with some young man—much to Wulfgar and Uther's consternation.

Caldor Nightcloud (Male Half-Elf Rogue): Caldor is head of security for the inn. He has a team of three other guards that patrol the hall and grounds and also watch the storage area below the inn. He usually spends his time in the common area, seated alone in the corner, watching the room for suspicious activity. He is a slight man with non-descript features, other than his high cheekbones and slightly pointed ears. He has brown hair and eyes. His hands are scarred, like he's handled fire, but he usually has them covered by gloves.

Chaya Vinasi (Female Human Adept): Chaya is an Acheran Adept and worshiper of Azunapath who lives at the inn. She provides healing services for any who need it. She charges for those services to those who can pay but provides them for free for those who cannot. She claims that she came to the inn after seeing the sign in a vision sent to her by her goddess and stayed because of the good people she found there. She is a quiet woman who keeps her own counsel. She is a good friend to the Redds and godmother to Esyld. She has long dark brown hair, dark skin, caramel colored eyes, and a petite figure.

Harsk Grimbraid (Male Dwarf Expert): Harsk is a rather slim dwarf with gray hair and eyes and an eyepatch. He runs the livery stable for the Redds and drives the carriage for patrons. He's a kindly old dwarf with a keen eye for horseflesh. He lost his eye in a goblin raid on his mountain village in the Hadurk-Sur when he was but a boy.

Notable Patrons

Aldin Woodstaff (Male Half-Elf Commoner): Aldin is a pleasant fellow with short red hair and blue eyes. He usually wears plain clothes, a fancy red waistcoat, and riding boots. He frequents the inn because he is convinced by a prophesy told him by a card reader that he will find his one true love here. He has been looking every day for the past few months, but he is confident that it will happen.

Erika Woodbote (Female Halfling Ranger): Erika is a far-roving ranger who always comes back to the Red Wolf when she swings through Kalimspport. She has a long face, black hair, and hazel eyes. She wears chain mail and wields a short sword.

Dacre Skewes (Female Human Sorcerer [Undead]): Dacre often keeps her hideous appearance hidden under wraps and a heavy cloak. All that can be seen are wisps of silver hair and green eyes flecked with silver. She wishes to find adventurers to hunt down and capture the legendary thief known as the Jade Serpent.

Rustic Accommodations

The accommodations at Red Wolf Hall are exquisitely rustic. The rooms all have the feel of a wilderness lodge. There are taxidermied beasts on the walls, rugs depicting wildlife or hunting scenes, and wooden accoutrements. The single rooms contain a single bed, small desk, a clothes-rack, and basin-stand. The double rooms contain two single beds, separated by a half-length partition, two clothes-racks, two basin-stands, and a writing desk. The standard suites contain four small bedrooms with a single adjoining room. The suite rooms contain a single bed and basin-stand; the adjoining room contains a lounge/couch and a table. The luxury suites contain three bedrooms, each with a canopy bed, a wardrobe, a writing desk, and vanity table with basin-stand and full-length mirror.

Outside the inn is a bathhouse with 4 bathrooms for bathing. Off the common room is a meeting room with a long table that seats eight for conferences.

Rumors and Secrets

Unquiet Death: The crypts beneath the cemeteries in the Central District have become unquiet of late. Rumor has it that a vampire is amongst the dead being stirred by a necromancer operating in the area.

The Forsaken Caverns of Alares: Some ten years ago, a band of adventurers explored the Forsaken Caverns of Alares in the Jorani Mountains to the east. But did they finish the job? Word has it from some settlers that something stirs from within and perhaps there were some undiscovered chambers...

Ether Drakes: Rangers from the Jorani Mountains are reporting sightings of rare Ether Drakes hunting in the high reaches of the Jorani Mountains. These rare creatures measure 16 feet from tail to head and weigh some 2000 lbs. Bony plates cover their upper body, while their lower body has a glassy sheen. Bone wings protrude from its back. They use strange psychic powers against their opponents and to coordinate their attacks if working with kin.
